

Apply online by
August 27
2021

Piri Ackerman-Barger, RN, PhD
and Craig Keenan, MD
ITSP Program Directors

“Presenting a framework of theory and practice to develop educator skills has been immediately useful.”
- ITSP Scholar

“Wonderful environment for growth and support for faculty committed to education.”
- ITSP Scholar

INTERPROFESSIONAL TEACHING SCHOLARS PROGRAM (ITSP) CALL FOR APPLICATIONS

The Interprofessional Teaching Scholars Program (ITSP) is an innovative, interprofessional faculty development program that promotes the development of educational scholars as change agents and leaders at UC Davis. Each scholar will have the opportunity to network, develop and practice their skills, self-assess, and grow as educators.

This nine-month program will be a hybrid model consisting of both in-person and online modules. Live sessions will begin on October 7, 2021 and will take place every other week. ITSP Scholars will be expected to attend 80 percent of the in-person and online sessions to receive a completion certificate. Some sessions will be available to faculty outside of the program, but these participants will not be part of the formal ITSP.

UC Davis faculty from all health-related disciplines and academic series are encouraged to apply.

TOPICS INCLUDE

- Learner-Centered Education
- Interprofessional Education Strategies
- Curriculum Development
- Program Evaluation
- Educational Scholarship and Research
- Inclusion, Diversity and Equity in Health Professions Education
- Educational Technology
- Clinical Education Strategies
- Providing Effective Feedback
- Learner Evaluation and Remediation
- Educational Leadership and Career Development

For more information and application details, visit our website at:
health.edu/facultydev/teaching-scholars