

Congratulations to our 2024 Host-Microbe Interaction Conference oral and poster presenters and winning logo design

These oral presenters were recommended by their faculty mentor to present their research at the 15th Annual Research Conference on Host-Microbe Interaction at Granlibakken in Tahoe City, California.

Each presentation was well delivered, engaging and shared their contributions to their research project. The presentations were followed by questions from the conference attendees to allow the oral presenters to answer questions about their research work.

Congratulations to these oral presenters for their informative and engaging presentations!
